To Whom It May Concern:

I am prayerfully hoping you will reconsider the discontinuation of Christian music on the web.

Just this morning, I was listening to WGNR from Anderson, Indiana. It is a very informative station. In this age of technology, you must consider those who are elderly or homebound that may not have other alternatives than to listen to Christian music or a Christian broadcasting on local radio stations or web links.

Many in hospitals and nursing homes can only enjoy it via radio or internet. The United States is in more dire need of faith and hope now than ever before.

This is one privilege that should not be taken away.

Please reconsider taking away Christian radio from Americans.

God bless you all and our great nation.
